Biographical Profile

In 2011, Martin Ducharme took on the role of Product Manager within the Business Development team at Accreditation Canada. He is responsible for the Qmentum accreditation program for private organizations and focuses on three key sectors: assisted reproductive technologies, out-of-hospital surgery, and diagnostic imaging.

Martin brings a wealth of private sector experience to help the Qmentum accreditation program become a better fit for private clinics. Prior to joining Accreditation Canada, Martin worked with major healthcare and banking software companies. He was also a consultant specializing in helping small businesses expand and secure investments. He holds a MBA in International Business and is a member of Emerging Health Leaders.
